WILL BE PUBLISHED IN A PAMPHLET AT THIS OFFICE IN A SHORT TIME, AN ADDRESS

TO THE PEOPLE OF THE U. STATES, ON THE IMPORTANCE OF ENCOURAGING AGRICULTURE & DOMESTIC MANU-

FACTURES: Fending to shew that by a due encouragement of these essential interests, the nation will be rendered more respectable abroad and more prosperous at home. TOGETHER WITH AN ACCOUNT OF The Improvements in Steep at Arlington, he native Sheep of Smith's Island, and the plans proposed of extending this valuable race of animals, for the benefit of the country at large:

BY GEORGE W. P. CUSTIS Esq. Of Arlington House, in the District of Co-

AT a time when the energies of the nation seem awakened to the state of our foreign and domestic concerns, we conceive that the important interests of Agriculture and Manafactures should meet with a considerable share of the public discussion. Certain it is, that at no period of our political history could these national subjects excite more interest or he more properly urged to the notice of the publib mind. The unsettled and impending appearance of our foreign affairs, and the present disturbed state of the European world, renders it doubly necessary for the citizens of America to cherish and promote their domestic policy, whereby they may derive those resources which are now entained from abroad and create wealth and industry within themselves. Too long have these important and patriotic interests been neglected. The nation now feels their want, and we trust will duly provide for their sup port. Government, hitherto engaged in other concerns, will now cherish those domestic institutions, which will preserve the nation's dignity and promote the people's welfare. Of the merits of the little work we are about to issue to the public, it is not our province to decide, but of the advantages to be derived from its sale we would beg leave to say every thing which a disinterested exertion in the cause of Domestic Manufacture justly demands-And as the profits of this work, after the expences of publication are paid, will be solely devoted to the purposes of the Arlington Institution, we may hope and confidently expect a liberal patronage from a discerning and patriotic community.

FROM THE NORTH AMERICAN.

MORE EVIDENCE AGAINST GENERAL WILKINSON.

BY the attention of a gentleman in Phila delphia, we are furnished with the following important deposition, which we hasten to lay before cur readers - We make no observation on its contents-they need none. But it may not be improper to state the reasons which justify and require the publication.

· It has been said and published as their opi nion by the court, to be an universal and first rule of military courts, especially courts of inquiry, whose proceedings are merely preparatory, to prevent all publication of those proceedings, and of the testimony taken in the course of them. In open and direct violation of this rule, expressly laid down by themselves, General Wilkinson has been permitted not only to publish that part of the sproceedings in this case, (and a large part t was) which consisted of his own scurrious and slanderous attacks on the witnesses against him, made in the shape of addresses to the court; but also for the purpose of traducing those witnesses, to garble the testimony, and publish such part as he pleased, with all such misrepresentations as he thought would conduce to his object. This proceeding, if not directly sanctioned by the court, has been winked at and acquiesced in; and copies of such depositions, as he chose to ask for, have been given to him, if not for this avowed purpose, yet certainly with a perfect conviction that they would be so used. This was the case particularly with Mr. HARPER's deposition; a copy of which was given to General Wilkinson, and by him published in the Aurora, for the express purpose of furnishing an opportunity of slandering the witness; while a repeated application of that witness himself for a copy, for his own use and protection, was, we are correctly informed, treated with silent neglect.

Although every witness who has deposed against Gen. Wilkinson, as far as we know, or have heard, has come in for his share of abuse, yet the most malignant and persevering attacks have been reserved for Mr. Clark; because his testimony was the most important, the most direct, and the most comprehensive; and because, supported by the original documents which he adduced, it pro- son to believe, any correspondence took duced an universal conviction of Gen. Wil- place between Daniel Clark, esq. and Aaron kinson's guilt; a conviction, which completely possessed the minds of the members composing this court; althous are all not conference pronounced a sentence of acquittal.

This is not indeed expressly declared by the court, as it was by the jury who acquitted Col Burr, on similar grounds. But it is evidently to be inferred from the words of the sentence, from the irresistable force of the testimony, and from the known circumstances of the case; as will, we understand, at a proper and no distant time, be most clearly

Under these circumstances, we have deem ed it our duty, as friends of truth and justice, to dispense, as we formerly intimated, with the observance of a rule, which has been violated on the other side, in favor of guilt and defination. These are our reasons for publishing the subjoined deposition, which opens seenes that must fill with horror and disgust by virtuous mind.

Let it be recollected, that this deposition was taken on the part of General Wilkinson. and not of Mr, CLARK, or with his knowledge. Let it also be remembered that the witness, Mr. DANIEL W. Coxe, of Philadelphia, is not a Federalist, but a zealous sud aniform supporter of Mr. Jefferson. In this part of the continent, it is unnecessary to say that he is a man of high and unimpeached character, and of most respectable deport-

I aree that the deposition of Daniel William Coxe, esq. shall be taken and read evidence, on behalf of general Wilkinon, before the court of enquiry, whereof colonel Burbeck is president.

(Signed) W. IONES, Jun. Officiating as judge advocate. Washington, June 2d, 1808.

INTERROGATORIES, To be exhibited to D. W. Coxe, esq. on the part of brigadier gen. Wilkinson.

Interrogatory 1. Have you ever held conversations with Daniel Clark, esq. respecting the political situation of the territory of Orleans, and the sentiment of its inhabitants towards the U. States? If so, relate the tesor of his conversations, particularly at the came last summer to New Orleans, and that period while colonel Burr was engaged in I neither was, nor could be mad enough to the prosecution of his plans.

inswer 1. I have frequently conversed with Mr. Daniel Clark, on the political situation of Louisiana, and well recollect, that he considered the inhabitants as attached to the U. States at the period of the cesgion, and that it depended entirely on the general government, to cement the bonds of union, by pursuing a sound and judicious policy. Mr. Clark himself a strong American in principle (even prior to the cession of that province) and having, on various occasions, exerted his influence in favor of this country, at the hazard of his liberty and fortune (as is well known to the present and former administrations) it consequently follows, that the people of Louisiana, who derived their opinions principally from him, passed under the American government, with the strongest impressions in favor of its wisdom and justice. Mr. Clark, however, considered the policy adopted by the administration (after taking possession of Orleans) as neither wise nor coneiliatory, and but ill calculated to inspire the inhabitants of that country with confidence in the liberality of its views and disposition towards them. At the period of Burr's conspiracy and since, Mr. Clark believed the creole inhabitants loyal, disinclined to revolution, and averse from turbulence and those political schisms, which appeared to disturb the new-comers among them.

I. 2. Do you remember any conversation respecting a plan of separation of that turritory from the U.S. the manner of its accomplishment, the period when it would take place, or the character of and the individuals concerned in the same.

A. 2. I remember no mention by Mr. Clarke, of any plan for the separation of Louisiana from the U. States, except the old Western Conspiracy for dismembering the union, and general Wilkinson's agency in that affair, which, after the developement of Burr's plot, I know he believed to be the source of those enterprizes in which he considered Burr and Wilkinson as unit-

I. 3. Have you ever heard Daniel Clark, esq. mention that col. Burr was to be at the head of such a combination, and that he was to be president, with a salary of 50,000 dollars per ann.

A. 3. After the explosion of Burr's conspiracy, I have heard Mr. Clark express his opinion, that Wilkinson and Burr had been acting in concert, but I have no recollection that he ever mentioned to me that Burr was to be president, with a salary of 50,000 dollars per ann.

I. 4. Do you know, or have you any rea-Burr, during the years 1805 and 1807. If an, relate your knowledge of the same, and how obtained.

A. 4. I know of no correspondence between Burr and Daniel Clark, except a letter that Mr. Charles Biddle informed me Burr had left with him to be delivered to Mr. Clark on his arrival from New Orleans, and which I supposed to relate to Burr's baggage, part of which he told me was left in New Orleans, and called with Mr. C. Biddle, at my counting-house to inquire if I had received it by any of my vessels. I accompanied Mr. Clark, after his arrival, to Mr. C. Biddle's, to receive the above-mentioned letter; and perfectly recollect his saying; rather pecvishly, that Burr and Wilkinson made him of much importance, and would pester him with letters, but that he had declined corresponding with Burr. No baggage or letters were, however, received by me, from colonel Burr, from Mr. Clark, or any other person. In further answer to this query, which appears to insinuate a connexion between Mr. Clark and colonel Burr, I beg leave to state, that having myself been always strongly impressed with a belief, that Burr was a dangerous and unprincipled man, and the marquis de Casa Yrujo, having one day jestingly observed to me, that he understood Mr. Clark was going to Vera Cruz, and was intimate with Burr when at New Orleans, I immediately wrote Mr. Clark (which was about the end of the year 1805) respecting the Marquis's observatious, and advised him to have nothing to say to Burr in any way. The following is an extract from Mr. Clark's answer to me, on the subject, the entire original of which is annexed hereto, with the post-mark there-

" New-Orleans, 6th Feb. 1805.

" MY DEAR FRIEND,

" I received this day your favor of 20th December, by post, and thank you for the information contained in the private enclosure. Be pleased to assure the respectable person who informed you I was closely connected with col. Burr, that he has been much imposed on in this particular, that I never was acquainted with him until he attach myself to a man of desperate fortunes, whose stay among us did not exceed a fortnight. If he or any of his friends have said any thing that could induce people to believe I had any connexion whatever with him, I disclaim it, and time will prove the truth of mine or their assertions, and I shall be glad to learn that an eye were kept to my proceedings. What in God's name ould I hope from col. himself.

Burr? And is it probable I should commit my fortune and perhaps reputation at my period of life, to commit follies for him? No, the thing is too improbable to think seriously of, and I solemnly assure you there never has nor ever shall be any connexion between him and me. I lent him when on the point of departure, a pair of horses to take him to Natchez, with a servant to bring them back, and bought his bill for $300 on Philadelphia, which I remitted to you, and this is all the politeness or intercourse I had with him, except once inviting him with a party to dinner, and less I could not do, in consequence of the letters of which he was the bearer to me;* I have entered into this long explanation to set you at rest on this subject, and I beg you will return many thanks to the person from whom you received your information, for giving me an opportunity of being on my guard, against the attempts that might be made to entrap me into any thing, which could appear like a connexion or intimacy with Mr. B. should he ever return to this

" Benjamin Morgan has a vessel called the Patty, belonging to John Craig of Philadelphia, consigned to him, and this vessel has one of the permissions mentioned in a former letter. Morgan has agreed with the captain, that he and I shall avail ourselves of this permission, and shall ship a cargo in the vessel, and the marquis de Cassa Calvo will give us the necessary certificates. We propose that the cargo shall amount to $40,000, to be consigned to me, and a friend whom I shall name another time shall have 1-3 interest. We pay for vessel and permission at the rate of 2 dollars per barrel freight, for the quantity we ship, and I count on our gaining one cent per cent. on the amount of the adventure. We shall have $15,000 insured here, and Price and you, when you hear further from Morgan and Chew and Relf, can have the rest covered at home for the voyage out. As for the returns back, I must trust to circumstances to be able to advise you. We have on hand almost all the goods we shall ship, and shall consequently have little or no advances to make, which could interfere with any advances intended for you, and even in the event of a capture the amount insured will be a remittance to you; this is but a hint to you for the present, to-morrow when things are more matured I shall write

"I expect to sail on the 9th, in the William Wright, as advised some time since. .The Caroline dropt down the river a day or two ago.

"Your's, affectionately,

"DANIEL CLARK." I. 5. Have you considered gen. Wilkinson and Daniel Clark, Esq. at any time on a friendly foeting? Do you know whether any change took place in Daniel Clark's opinions, and when, of general Wilkin-

A. 5. I never considered Mr. Daniel Clark and general James Wilkinson as being friends beyond mere appearances. Mr. Clark always thought ill of the general on ascount of his Spanish connexious, and never to m: (even in confidence) uttered an opinion in his favor. I know that he was impressed for a long while with the idea that Wilkinson had relinquished his pension from Spain, and finding him still patronised by the administration (though it was acquainted with his former agency in the old western conspiracy) he continued to maintain an intercourse with him, which both his own public situation as consul for the | son's participation therein, which Mr. F. United States at New-Orleans, and Wilkinson's, as military commander in the south-western country, rendered necessary. A great change to the general's further disadvantage, however, took place in Mr. Clark's opinion, from a variety of circumstances, among which may be noticed the following: 1st. The period and manner of Wilkinson's first communication to the president, accompanying his deposition of the contents of Burr's cyphered letter to him. 2d. His proceedings, denunciations and arrests in New Orleans, which Mir. C. conceived to be outrageous and improper. 3d. His affidavit before the grand jury at Richmond, who on the simple facts before them at the time, had nearly he and a bill for treason or misprison of treason, against Wilkinson, as a coadjutor of Burr, and Mr. C. declared to me on his arrival in this city, last October, that he considered the perfidy of Wilkinson, in his capacity of commander of the American army, as without a parallel, and was fully convinced of his being the author of the conspiracy, which he claimed the merit of frustrating. I am thus particular, as I have been so pointedly interrogated as to the causes of Mr. Clark's alieuation

from the General, after an intimacy of many years, and I deeply regret the necessity of using terms and epithets, which alone are adequate to convey my knowledge of Mr. Clark's opinion of general Wilkinson. will further state, that though Mr. Clark was convinced at one time, that the General did not receive in 1804, the 10,000 dollars from the Spanish government, of which so much mention has been made; he, howe. ver, changed his opinion on the subsequent information, and was convinced that Will kinson did receive the money, in viciation of his promise to him to drop his Spanish connexions, though it did not appear charg. ed on the Spanish treasury books, on account of its being part of a larger sum of secret service money, placed at the disposal of the military governor of Louisiana, and not of the fiscal and accounting officer. Mr. Clark also believed, that the General, by way of screening himself from the suspicion of be. ing connected with Burr, and of increasing executive confidence in his fidelity, had de. nounced many innocent persons (and his name among them) in a letter to the President, which has never been published. The foregoing circumstances furnished addition. al reasons for the ultimate and entire es. trangement of Mr. Clark from general Wil. kinson, and completed his disgust at and abhorrence of his conduct.

I. 6. Do you recollect D. Clark's opinions, and when, of Gen. Wilkinson's conduct at N. Orleans in 1806 and 1807, whe. ther he confided in his loyalty to the United States, or suspected him? relate any knowl. edge you may have, and whether from Daniel Clark's opinion of the General, or your own knowledge, you have ever proffered your assistance, mercantily or outerwise, in advancing his interests?

A. 6. The first part having been already answered, I will merely add, that I am unacquainted with any offer of mercantile or other aid, having been made by Mr. Clark or myself, to advance Gen. Wilkinson's interest, tho' as to what Mr. C. may have done, I cannot speak with certainty beyond my own knowledge.

I. 7. Have you, since the charges exhibited in the House of Representatives of the U. States, in Congress, by John Randolph and Daniel Clark, Esquires, gone to Lancaster? Was the motive of the visit to see or communicate with Andrew Ellicott! Did you see or communicate with Andrew Eilicott; and what respecting? Were you induced by the desire of any other person to take this visit? A. 7. I did visit Lancaster last January, and for the express purpose of seeing Mr. A. Ellicott and inducing him to attend the court of enquiry as an evidence, which however he declined doing unless the bill giving courts martial power to coerce the attendance of witnesses, in which case he said he should go to Washington although he considered the court of enquiry as incompetent to the proper investigation of general W's conduct. My journey to Lancaster was my own free act and without the knowledge or instigation of any person. It arose from conversation I had a few days previous with captain John Dunlap in this city who in formed me that he had conversed with Mr. Ellicott on his return through Lancaster, who corroborated Mr. Clark's statement as laid before the house of representatives, and declared Wilkinson to be a pensioner of Spain. On entering Mr. Ellicott's house, the evening after my arrival at Lancaster, I found him engaged in explaining to a number of patlemen of the legislature the affair of the old western conspiracy, and Wilkinwas elucidating by references to his printed journal when commissioner on the part of the United States for running the southern boundary. He confirmed the correctness of Mr. Clark's statement and mentioned his own agency in detecting Wilkinson's connexion with the Spaniards, by means of intercepted letters, &c. the circumstances of which he said he had communicated in cy pher to our government at the time, and th following is a memorandum I made on turning to my lodgings of some other & portant circumstances mentioned to me by Mr. Ellic tt. " January 30th, Andrew H licott informed me this evening that in the month of June 1801, (as well as I recollect) he communicated personally to Mr. Jeffer son, the exact sum of money that had been sent by don Thomas Portel to gen. W. that this money was not on account of any mercantile transactions but of the pension allow the general by the Spanish government, [sca] note B.] that Wilkinson was not a man to be trusted, and if continued in employ, would one day or other disgrace and involve the government in his schemes."

I. 8. Do you know any other matter of thing that may be of use in the enquiry, re specting the conduct of brigadier general Wilkinson, which the military court of enquiry is now prosecuting at Washington?

PEAR SIR

" From a short and imperfect acquaintce, Thave taken the liberty of writing to I have been informed by a gentleman undoubted veracity attached to the U. ates army, now stationed at the camp near is place, that general Wilkinson has writen to two officers of the army, to wit, col. Kingsbury and capt. Boyer, both stationed at said camp, requesting each of them to rive testimony relative to the interview you ad with general Wilkinson at Fort Adams, the time mentioned in your communicaion to congress. You may perhaps have heard, and know better the relative situation r standing of those deponents with the Oeneral than I, and what influence he may are with them. The first I am credibly informed has been promised a furlough, the second flattered with a prospect of promoion to a majority; each of them have rereived a letter from the General, holding forth fair promises at the commencement, and concluding with an earnest request that they be punctual in sending on their depotions, the purport of which is intended to avalidate that part of your testimony, which elates to vour interview with the General Fort Adams, and each of those gentlenen have been heard to say, that you were with the General but a few hours at that "The General has also requested, that hose depositions be written by major Stodlard, who was immediately sent for to the upper country of this territory for that purbose. He has arrived, and they are now at work.

"Having heard captain Sterret of New Orleans, speak of your visit to the General; and knowing that his statement will correpond with yours, as to time and duration of stay, I have written to him requesting harhis deposition might be taken in legal and forwarded to you as soon as sible. Mr. Evans, of Fort Adams, I think, can testify the same. There are several gentlemen in this neighborhood, whose tesmony would go in corroboration, who will not come forward voluntarily. Mr. Evans, presume, will; if so, I will have his deposition taken, and inclose it to you. The unusual anxiety and interest the friends of gen. W. express on this occasion, although they endeavor to conduct the business as secretly as possible, have induced me to take the part I have; conscious that it can do you no injury, I shall feet happy if I have had it in my power to render you a serv-

Having a personal acquaintance with the Baron de Carondelet, Thomas Power, and the late Governor Gayoso, and Philip Nolan, and previously seen the documents laid by Messrs Randolph and Clark on the table of the House of Representatives, I do aver and declare, from my own knowledge of the hand writing or signature of them, is true and correct; I have examined thent with a view of proving the same, if ever called upon for that purpos ... [See note C.]

I also declare, that I have lately perused the official copy of a public dispatch in the Spanish language, from the marpuis Casa Yrujo, to don Pedro Cevallos, secretary for oreign affairs in Spain, dated Philadelphia, December 18th, 1806, which communicates the entire conviction of the marquis that ge-Wilkinson (well known and designated m correspondence of state under the name or appellation of No. 13) was united with Burr in a plan to sever the western country from the union, and that there was nothing to fear from their views which was not directed against the Spanish possessions, but against their own country. I further declare, that on the arrival of Mr. Thomas Power in this city from Richmond, last October, I had many conversations with him, and he appeared much incensed against general Wilkinson, for having (as he said) faithless'y published a certificate, which he had given him the preceding spring. under a solemn promise, that it was intended merely for Mr. Jefferson's private inspection, kinson on arriving at Richmond from New Orleans, as follows: Afterbeing conducted (I think by night) to the general's chamber, or the general to his, Wilkinson locked the door, and with emotions of agony and despair, raising his head and hands towards Heaven, exclarmed-" What, Power, are you come here to do? and what evidence do you intend giving before the court? Can't you go out of the way?" To which Power replied-" I shall answer nothing which can implicate my own government." "If so (said the general) I am safe—give me your hand; and do you promise this?" Power answered, that was his intention.

I further declare, that I have obtained information which I believe may be fully relied on, that William Lewis, Esq. of this city, counsel for col. Burr, possesses facts, statements, and documents, which will prove, that there existed between Burr and Wilkinson, an agreement and mutual understanding in relation to the conquests which they projected making in the west, and that they were to co-operate in the accomplishment of that object.

NOTE B.

Here is a fresh and most mortifying instance of that odious and despicable vice, of which the present chief magistrate of this country has several times lately been convict-

In the message of the President to the house of representatives, dated January 20th, 1808. after enumerating in compliance with a request of the house, the various pieces of information wich he had received after he came into office, relative to General Wilkinson's connections with the Spaniards, and of which this from Mr. Ellicott is not one, he goes on thus: " No other information within the perview of the request of the house, is known to have been acceived by any department of the government, from the establishment of the present federal government. That which has been recently committed to the house of representatives (meaning that by Mr. Clark) is the first direct testimony ever make known to me, charging General Wilkinson with the corrupt receipt of money."

And what then was the information, made known to him by Mr. Elliott, one of his friends and supporters, in 1801? Does not the cheek of every honest man in the nation. burn with shame at this new detection? Tho this instance unfortunately, does not stand alone, it is far more flagitious and alarming than the others. They, as in the cases of Bollman, and John Smith of Ohio, were falsehoods, deliberate indeed, but told by Thomas Jefferson, in his individual character, to other individuals.—But here we find the President, in his official character, and in an official message to another branch of the governme't, on a very important public concern, statin___leliberate and wilful falsehood, for the ef screening a guilty tool and favorite! ell might Fauchet exclaim to his government, in his famous interrupted dispatch No. 10, tho speaking of a different person, " What will the old age of this republic be, when its youth exhibits such scenes of depravity and corrupti-

It may be proper to add, that Mr. Ellicott's deposition, it is believed, has been taken .-If he has not confirmed this statement of Mr. Coxe, let it be shown by the production of the deposition, which no doubt is in the power of General Wilkinson. If the deposition was not taken, why was it not? Mr. Eilicott's letter to General Wilkinson himself, long since received and published, states the fact, though not its communication, to the President .- Editor North American.

Thus it seems that the authenticity of these most convincing and unanswerable documents was proved in the most legal and technical form, by a most respectable witness.

The instructions to Power being thus proved to be in the hand-writing of Noland, and it having been admitted by general Wilkinson, as appears from the sentence of the court, that Nolan was his agent, the writing of these instructions is brought home, in the most strict and legal form to general Wilkinson.

Now turn to the instructions themselves, at New Orleans, at his pacticular request, and they will be found to clear up every possible doubt, of the receipt of money from the Spaniards, by general Wilkinsou, of the clanto quiet his suspicions, and should never be destine and corrupt nature of that receipt, and made public. Mr. Power likewise related of general Wilkinson's traitorous connections in interview he had with general Wil-, with that government. See also Power's letter to Portell, proved by Mr. Coxe, to be authentic, and Pertell's answer; also Derbigny's deposition, relative to concealing the money in sugar barrels, and the letter of Gayoso also proved by Mr. Coxe.

These papers are all published in this Gazette, of 16th Jan. and 4th May. But we are too far anticipating a subject which demands and will soon receive, a far different discussion.—Editor North American.

MR. SNOWDEN.

BY the COMPLETE FARMER, published in England, "by a society of gentlemen, members of the society for the encouragement of arts, manufactures, and commerce," it appears by a number of experiments made in Ireland, that Potatoes planted " over dung" produced about one fifth more than those planted under, and the preference given to seed " reasonably large."

"Mr. Marshall, amongst many other useful experiments, says, that having planted potatoes between cabbages, though at intervals of more than three feet under, the halm became so luxuriant that the cabbages did not thrive being in danger of being smoothered; and regretting at the same time, that so much succulent herbage should be suffered to rot where it grew, broke off some of the stems and threw them before the cows. They eat them readily. This induced him to set some men to work with a sickle, to cut a patch of it, to try if the cows would eat it in any quantity; and likewise to try its effects on the roots. The first was soon devoured. They eat as many as a man could wheel in a large wheel-barrow presently, leaving only the woody part of the stem; and these were thrown to the hogs, who eat them greedily, or sucked them, so that the refuse might be contained in the crown of a hat. By the cows eating the halm and the roots, suffering no bad effects, what a saving there must be. For though the potatoes were planted wide, there was herbage equal to the middling crop of tares; besides the surface being left open for the cabbage; which could be hoed and earthed up with the hand hoe as if no potatoes were there. It was his opinion that cheeking the rising sap may reflect it to the roots, and merent of an evil prove beneficial. The cows in consequence of their food vielded considerable increase of milk, and of a richer quality than before; the butter was perfectly and remarkably sweet; and the cows increased in their desire of the halm. By this process the whole receives the perfect fallow, for the intervals of the potatoes are tilled before the cabbages are planted; and the intervals of the cabbages after the potatoes are taken up. The soil by this method gives four crops, viz. the hulm, the potatoes, the cabbages and the sprouts. Upon examination it appeared that the potatoes which had their halm cut were not so large as those that had their halm remain uncut; but does not the gain of the halm more than balance the loss in the roots? By some it is said that the potatoes have done growing when the halm begins to turn; therefore Mr. Marshall recommends the cutting the halm when the roots have grown large, and before the tops of the halm have lost their succulence—if possible soon enough for the haim and late enough for the potatoes."

In my next I shall communicate some observations of the celebrated Arthur Young, esq. on the advantage of feeding hogs with clover.

The improvements consist of a dwelling house of convenient size, perfectly new, built of the best materials, handsomely finished with a fine cellar to it, and a variety of other accommodations for a genteel family—a store house with a counting room to it, and a fine cellar to the whole of that building alsobarn, comprising stable and granary—a good house with other accommodations for an overseer, and customary houses of other descriptions-to which are annexed a well laid of productive garden handsomely paled in, a good yard, some valuable wheat and grass lots, and orchards of a variety of selected fruits of the most approved kinds; and all well enclosed.

Also, another Tract of Land, in Culpepper sounty, containing about two hundred acres, mostly in wood, and unimproved.

He is an excellent Foalgetter, and from his size, blood, and figure, is justly entitled to be ranked among the first class of Horses in this country. The whole of this property, excepting my negroes, which I shall dispose of in my neighborhood for their own accommodation, will be sold under a small reserve that will be required in money, or at short dates, at private bargain, either on easy payments in the purchasers own paper, if satisfactorily secured, ed, for approved bonds well endorsed, property in Alexandria or its vicinity, or suitable mer-
